

Science: Changing States

Today Room 5 completed an experiment where they changed the state of the water in the air from a gas, to a liquid and then to a solid. The water vapour froze to the outside of the cup. The cup had ice and salt in it.

Here are some photos:

